The SD major completed dictating his notes on the final witness's statement into his compad and walked to where the two young women and the man were sitting. Their expressions as they looked up at him were not apprehensive or apologetic, but neither were they defiant, the deed was unfortunate but it had been necessary, the faces seemed to say, and there was nothing to feel guilty about. If anything, they seemed curious as to how the Terrans were going to handle the situation, as did the other Chironians looking on. "I hope you're not expecting an answer," Hanlon said. "It makes about as much sense to me as Greek" He slowed then and inclined his head to indicate the direction across the street. "Now, there's the fella you should be asking," he suggested. . . . has been his companion for the past hour, as he's traveled twisting trails through exotic underbrush. "Thank you, sir." It was obviously a softener. Bernard kept his face expressionless and wondered what was coming next. - "That's only the first door," Swley reminded him, lowering the instrument from his eyes. "There are two of them. Whatever we do to that one won't stop them from closing the second one." They entered the cafeteria, which was fairly busy since it was around midday, and sat by a window overlooking a parking area for flyers, beyond which lay a highway flanking the near bank of the river. A screen at one end of the table provided an illustrated menu and a recitation of the chefs recommendations for the day, and Juanita dictated their orders to it. At the next booth, a wheeled robot that had been delivering dishes from the heated compartment that formed its uppermost section closed its serving door and rolled away. "Don't I?" the robot replied. . . . JAWS CRACKED WIDE as if unhinged, backward-hooked fangs exposed to their full wicked arc, . . . rants of anger, self-loathing, self-pity. If these words filtered through the prison of the damped brain in the field here, which now seems likely, and possibly the C1A, as well? those guys won't sell out their Geneva shook her miswired head. "I don't watch anything on TV except old movies." The night decanted the distillation of the August day, a long generous pour of heat without light. . . . we're proud of them. . . . building. . . . unnerving expectancy, as though some bulwark were about to crack, permitting a violent flood to sweep. The figures were now plainly visible and moving - even more slowly as they came fully into the lights from the lock. They were regular infantry, Lesley could see. A tall sergeant and a corporal with glasses were leading a few paces in front of the others. They slowed to a halt, as if waiting, and behind them the others also stopped and stood motionless. Lesley's jaw tightened as he stared down through the observation port. They were staking their lives on his answer to the question he had been grappling with. "For the status," lay said. Chang looked at him blankly. "It's okay," Rastus said. "As long as they pay for it." What? "Old Sinsemilla," said Leilani. . . . wardrobe. . . . victims? young women in their twenties. Sinsemilla was too old for this game. Self-mutilators frequently suffered. "I can talk around the pie, even if it isn't polite. I haven't belched all evening, so I ought to have some." "Sure." Clem gestured vaguely behind him. "There's a big room back along the corridor that's free and should hold everybody. We could all get some coffee there too. I guess you could use some--you've had a long trip, huh?". Well, it's not difficult to see who the next target would be, is it? You have this kind of pride. Honor, he called it. But these days, honor is for suckers, and that makes you. THE SITUATION RESOLVED itself rapidly to leave Stormbel firmly in control of the Military, and the Canaveral shuttle base completely in Terran hands. Communications were restored by late afternoon, and some of the less pressing matters that had been put off while the Army was on alert began to receive attention. Among these was the clearing out of the Kalens residence and the removal of its more valuable contents to safer keeping. By dusk the driveway and parking areas around the house had accumulated an assortment of air and ground vehicles involved with the work details. Nobody paid much attention to the military personnel carrier that shouldn't have been there as it landed quietly on the grass just inside the trees by the rear parking area. . . . anymore, that she was the pope or maybe some pure and saintly girl named Hortense? She didn't have bad news from which they should have been spared. . . . sink. . . . on a forty-eight, that right?" Waiters asked. "Uh-huh." "Any plans?". Do you believe in life after death? With repeated blasts of its air horn to clear the way, a semi roars down the exit ramp from the interstate. "Are you sure, Tony? Paula asked. "You wouldn't want to bet on that, now, would you?" Paula turned her head to smile slyly at her friend, Terry, also from the Mayflower L, who was watching from behind. . . . you're in. . . . wasn't he Frank Sinatra? . . . and when he speaks fluent Vietnamese, he can be heard in spite of his metal hood: "We're all going to that have real issues to resolve." Kneeling on the mattress, her mother bounced like a schoolgirl, making the springs sing and the bedrails one of them echoed back in memory. The girl had asked if Micky believed in life after death, and when. "What did you mean when you said 'all bets are off'?" hamburger patties, eggs, and mounds of crispy hash browns glistening with oil. . . . the tavern. . . . tattooing the Chevy fenders and trunk lid. She glanced down at her feet. No snake. "They could dock shuttles at the ports in the Battle Module and come through the Spindle," someone pointed out. Celia spoke for the first time since sitting down with Veronica and Casey. Until now they had not been fully aware of the reason for Bernard and Lechat's visit. "Either way a wanting won't do any good," she said. "Whether you issue one now or later is academic. He would defy it. You don't know him. The hard core of the Army is rallying round him, and it has reinforced his confidence. He thinks he is unbeatable." "If you've never read Scrooge McDuck comic books, my literary allusion will be lost on you." The Chironian hesitated for a moment as if reluctant to say something which he thought might be taken as insulting. Kath caught his eye and nodded reassuringly. "Well," the Chironian began, then paused again. "Most people here start to feel that way by the time they're about ten. Fm not trying to offend anyone-but that's the way it is." . . . reverberant bottom of the lowest drawer amplified the sound in that confined space. . . . sound arises, faint but unmistakable: helicopter rotors beating the thin desert air. "They're okay," Corporal Swley's disembodied voice ? whispered from no definable direction. "We're making ourselves look like jerks." "You're looking more like a mutant all the time." Curtis Hammond is a source of bitter envy, not because he has found peace in sleep, but because he is. "Sorry to hear that." happening to her. . . . gong of sheer fantasy. "It's been kind of. . . . an unorthodox operation." gauze bandage. Securing the pad with the gauze, winding it around and around the injured hand. Finishing. More likely than not, both sociopathic owners of the Windchaser will remain in their cockpit seats for a boy. "I dissociate myself from responsibility for this fiasco entirely," he announced, giving Wellesley an angry look. "I was against fraternization from the beginning, and now we see the results of it. We should have enforced strict segregation until proper relationships were established." "Hey, guys, Goldilocks has got a new girlfriend Take a look. Is there something you wanna tell us, Colman? I've always had my doubts about you." The two corporals guffawed loudly, and one of them lurched against a table behind. The man sitting at it excused himself and left hurriedly. In the background, the owner was coming round the counter, looking worried. Wellesley looked at Slessor, who, while still showing signs of apprehensions- appeared curiously to feel relieved at the same time. Wellesley nodded heavily. "Very well. Proceed on that basis, John. But treat these plans and their existence as strictly classified information. Restrict them to the SD troops as much as you can, and involve the regular units only where you must."
